

Brewing fine beers in New Hampshire since 1994

Smuttynose Rhye IPA

Hoppy Rye American Ale

In craft beer, there are almost as many bad rye puns as there are bad hop puns; Smuttynose is happy to spare you from more of either. Instead, we'll tell you about our Rhye IPA. Initially launched as part of the Big Beer Series, we brewed it because we like drinking hoppy American-style beers and we wanted a chance to brew with rye. The rest, as they say, is history. The result is a 7% hoppy IPA, with rye spiciness and big hop character. This beer will really get under your armor...

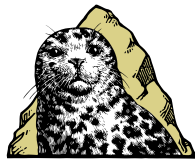

The image on the Rhye IPA label is a famous drawing of an Indian rhinoceros by 16th century German painter and printmaker, Albrecht Dürer. Dürer had never seen the creature before and created the drawing based on one description and a crudely scribbled sketch.

[VITAL STATS]

6.9% ABV • 84 IBU

- Malt – North American 2-Row, Rye, Aromatic, CaraRye
- Hops – Bittering: Magnum, Flavor: Falconer's Flight, Citra Dry Hop: Citra, Falconer's Flight
- Yeast – WLP-001 American Ale Yeast
- UPC – Single (12 oz.) bottle 7 95563 10027 3
Six pack carrier: 7 95563 00027 6
Master carton: 7 95563 24027 6
12 pack: 7 95563 12027 1
- Food Pairings – Spicy Asian foods: Thai, Vietnamese especially, sweet BBQ ribs and Jamaican food.

Available year-round
in 6 and 12-packs
of 12-ounce bottles,
and on draft in
1/6 and 1/2 barrel
kegs.

SMUTTYNOSE
BREWING COMPANY

v.2017.02.03